Graduate Institute in Liberal Education National Educator's Grant Application

The Graduate Institute in Liberal Education was founded in 1967 as a summer program intended primarily for high school teachers. While the size and scope of the Institute have expanded over the years, we seek to preserve a commitment to the education of teachers as a special part of our mission. As part of this commitment, St. John's College offers a special grant for students who are full-time public or private school teachers. Administrators, curriculum developers, and other educational professionals are also eligible for this grant. The National Educator's Grant provides a one-third tuition grant to pursue either of the college's graduate programs: the Master of Arts in Liberal Arts or the Master of Arts in Eastern Classics. Applicants who wish to be considered for the National Educator's Grant must complete this form and attach a letter from the principal, dean, headmaster, or department chair of their school verifying their full-time employment for three years prior to enrollment in the Institute. Note: Applicants that meet the qualifications for this grant are not required to complete the normal application process for financial aid, but the college encourages all applicants for this grant to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid in order to be considered for greater financial aid assistance beyond the one-third tuition grant.
